NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

Here is one establishment that has not raised prices with the war as an excuse. We positively have not raised prices on our tailored suits and coats. The same price prevailing as before and during 1914. We give you the same high grade woolsens and silks guarantee the dyes; the same high class workmanship and fit; the same individual attention to style, and charge no more than before the European war, and as we have already bought our Spring stock there will be no raise up to July 1, 1917. So why pay more and get less. All our goods are dyed with the old dyes. No experiments. We positively guarantee every color.

BOOZEFIGHTER OF GOLDFIELD SHOT

A booze-fighter and free lunch grabber was taken out on the drear, dead desert near Goldfield Thursday night and shot dead, according to the Tonopah Times. He was known as "Smokey," and Clyde Johnson, auditor and recorder of the Esmeralda county, was responsible for the killing. He paid a young man a dollar to commit the deed. After the killing "Smokey's" remains were left lying where they fell, for the buzzards to pick the meat from the bones, which later will crumble away and go the way of all bones.

After the killing there was not the usual ripple of excitement that generally follows the shedding of blood or the snuffing out of a life. There was no lynching bee held, and Mr. Johnson and his hired accomplice walk the streets as free men.

'Tis well to end this suspense here and now inform the readers that "Smokey" was a burro and that he was an incurable drunkard. He would shove open the swinging doors of the thirst parlors, walk up to the bar, bum a "shot of booze," help himself to the free lunch and depart. He was quite a character, and probably was the only desert canary in the world with these human-like habits. Something got wrong with him. It is not known if he suffered a general breakdown on account of his dissipation or not, but Mr. Johnson, feeling that it would be doing the animal a good turn to put him out of his misery, had him killed.

The local bigwig's presence in the chair at an entertainment was desired, and two of the organizers waited upon him with a deferential request. The required promise was duly obtained. "You may rely upon me," said the big man. "Friday, the 25th, in the parish room. It's quite an unsectarian affair, I suppose?" "Bless your 'eart, sir," came the reply, "the place was lime-washed only last week. You won't find nothing of the kind on the premises."
